

Sinclair
Broadcasting's
decision to force
their stations to
air an anti-Kerry
documentary days
before the election
is in violation of the law to serve the public interest.

It is a partisan
smear attempt, using
the public airwaves.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free
of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies
control the airwaves, we get more of what's good
for the bottom line
and less of what we need for our democracy.

Sinclair's actions
show why we need to strengthen media
ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license
renewal process
needs to involve
more than a returned
postcard.

The public airwaves
belong to the public.

Thank you for your time.
